

Torah from terror

The Rabbinic Response to September 11, 2001, a new Web site created to preserve the words of Torah written and spoken in the days following 9/11 (www.torahterror.com), includes sermons by several Washington area rabbis.

The site was created by Rabbi Neil Gillman, the Aaron Rabinowitz and Simon H. Rifkind Professor of Jewish Philosophy at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, and Jason Miller, a rabbinical student at JTS.

Local rabbis whose sermons are on the site include Avis Miller and Jeffrey Wolhberg, Adas Israel Congregation, Washington, D.C.; Fred Scherlinder Dobb, Adat Shalom Reconstructionist Congregation, Bethesda; Susan Grossman, Beth Shalom Congregation, Columbia; Jonah Layman, Shaare Tefila, Silver Spring; Jack Moline, Agudas Achim, Alexandria; Jonathan Schnitzer, B'nai Israel Congregation, Rockville; Sandford H. Shudnow of Silver Spring, for a sermon delivered at Congregation Har Tzeon-Agudath Achim, Silver Spring; Stuart Weinblatt, Congregation B'nai Tzedek, Potomac; and Matthew Simon, emeritus at B'nai Israel, for a sermon at B'nai Israel Congregation in Nassau.
